

INFRARED ANALYSIS

Power Systems & Controls offers IR Scanning utilizing the latest-technology Thermograph equipment custom tailored for your need. Whether you have a single facility with a specific application or multiple locations which require annual, semi-annual, or quarterly PM's, PS&C offers the best possible scanning service. PS&C has been identifying problems and creating Power Quality solutions since 1965.

Preventive Maintenance By systematically testing your equipment at scheduled intervals; you will eliminate the untimely chance of a system failure when you need it the most. Detailed reports will pinpoint the problems.

Right Time – Right Scan , Performing a check of electrical apparatus when under load is the best time for locating a potential problem. PS&C Engineers thoroughly understand power systems and their characteristics.

Power Quality Specialists PS&C serves dozens of the Fortune 100 with its resources dedicated to the Power Quality Industry. We not only develop High-Tech Power Conditioning equipment, we deliver to our customers the amassed accumulation of experience required to be called Power Quality Specialists. With over 50 years of experience around the world, we have probably come across most problems. An Infrared Analysis is an invaluable tool in preventing major and damaging electrical issues.